Pet Help Resource Center

Here in the U.S., we love our pets! Nearly two-thirds of all U.S. households have a pet. And we take our pets very seriously. In a 2006 survey, nearly half of the pet owners polled indicated that they consider their pets to be family members.

In our own research, we find that at least half of our members have pets. Along with all the incoming calls for help with family issues or life problems, we get occasional questions about pets. Pet problems such as behavioral issues or grief over the loss of a pet can pose challenges for their human owners.

Whether it is help in choosing or naming a pet, finding a vet, locating hotels or vacation areas that allow pets, or solving a pet behavioral problem, we can help.

We've compiled an online Pet Help Resource Center that offers a centralized source for resources and help. It features links and articles on a variety of pet-related matters and you can even submit your pet questions. We'll be updating and adding pet info and news frequently, so check back often.
